The Crohn’s & Colitis Foundation is accepting applications for the Visiting IBD Fellow Program. This competitive program is designed for GI fellows interested in accelerating their career development by participating in the clinical operations of a leading IBD center. Program-related expenses, such as travel and accommodations, will be paid for by the Foundation.

Who Should Apply

- Candidates must be enrolled in an accredited fellowship training program within the US.
- Candidates should express a specific interest in IBD, such as patient care, a sub-specialty, or the pursuit of a career in IBD academics.
- Candidates should have the full support of their home institution program director for their absence during the 30-day program duration.
- Candidates employed at a Fellowship Host Center may still apply and will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. Priority may be given to candidates from other institutions.

This activity is supported by educational grants from:

---

Space is limited! Deadline for applications: January 29, 2020.
For full program details, visit:
www.crohnscolitisfoundation.org/ibdfellowprogram
To request an application, contact Rida Mahmood at rmahmood@crohnscolitisfoundation.org.